WEBSITE PITCH TEMPLATE

You want to reach out to blogs & websites that feel like a good fit for the aesthetic and tone of your project. Look for creative websites but also look for more niche blogs that match the subject/personality of your project. Most websites have a contact email hidden in their About or Contact page. Here's the email template I used to pitch my first passion project, Daily Dishonesty. Update it with your correct information, and make sure to attach three to five website-ready pieces from your project to the email (if possible) to make it easy for them to view your work.

Email Subject: Project Submission for (name of website here)

Hello (writer's name or website here)!

My name is Lauren Hom, and I'm a graphic designer based in NYC. I think your audience would really enjoy my latest project, Daily Dishonesty (www.dailydishonesty.com). It's a series of hand lettered posters that document the little lies I tell myself on a regular basis. In addition, all of the artwork can be purchased as posters on Society6 (www.society6.com/dailydishonesty).

Thanks so much for your consideration!

Best,

Lauren

CREATIVE WEBSITES

Here is a list of popular creative websites to submit your passion project to for potential features! If your project is a series, it's best to submit your projects once you have more content on your project website. My recommendation is a minimum of 10 pieces.
